

Black Day, observed in school with varied activities taken up by different classes. From wearing black and white coloured clothes to doing tattoos on the face, chart work for the display in and around the school, staging of play based on terrorist attack in Mumbai (26/11) and many more.

Yellow Day celebrated to mark the spring festival of Basant Panchami in India. Several activities were organized during the day by all the classes.

Varied colours of the veil, exhibited the significance of colours in weddings. Weddings in China, Australia and India were depicted by the students.

The Chinese Wedding and importance of colour
RED...

Indian Weddings- Kerala, Punjab, West Bengal and Gujarat

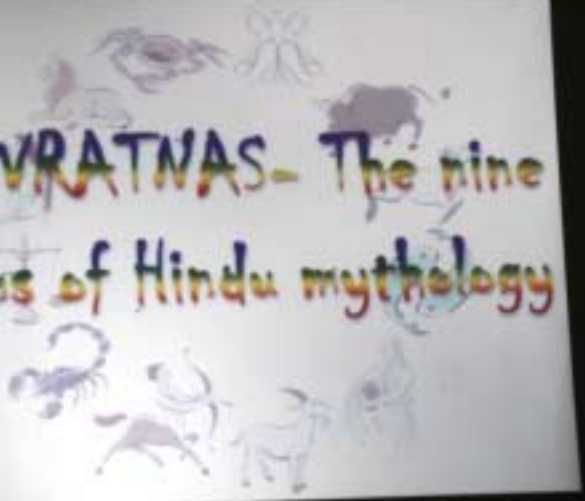

Dresses worn in UK and India

Gems in our lives

NAVRATNAS - The nine gems of Hindu mythology

GRANET

Animal: Rat

Garnet is mostly associated with love, loyalty, passion, mental health and women's needs. Garnet usually comes in deep red colours, that is why Chinese like to call it 'The Blood Stone'. Chinese use Garnet to alternatively cure severe melancholy and depression. Little pieces of Garnet are traditionally given to Chinese pregnant women to help them with their pregnancy. It is also known to stabilize a woman's menstrual cycles. A Chinese legend claims that if you tie a piece of Garnet in your front door it will protect your house against thieves.

SAPPHIRE

BLUE

Handwritten text describing the benefits of a blue sapphire.

RED RUBY

Handwritten text describing the benefits of a red ruby.

EMERALD

GREEN

Handwritten text describing the benefits of an emerald.